We shall commence our holiday article by reference to BOOKS AND PERHODICALS AGAIN. In our notice yesterday of our city dealers in books and periodicals we omitted (unintentionally, of course) to notice the Religious Book House in this city. The stock of books and periodicals at this establishment will be found to be extensive and varied. No one can choose a better place to make a selection of a holiday present of a book or periodical. The agent, Mr. Stoner, will be found a most accommodating gentleman—ready at all times to supply the wants of his customers. In making up your list of books and periodicals don't do as we nearly did—forget the Religious Book House.

BOOTS AND SHOES ONCE MORE. In making up a list such as we have been publishing it will almost invariably occur that some names are left out. We were provoked this morning to discover that in our list of boot and shoe dealers we had omitted the names of the old-established and reliable firm of McClelian & Knox. This firm will be found supplied with every make of boots and shoes—for ladies or gents—for girls or boys. Call on McClelian & Knox and get shod.

**SEWINO MACHINES.**

The general usefulness of these far and justly famed servitors of the family is so universally acknowledged that no words of ours are here necessary to recommend them to public favor. Nor shall we attempt in the short space to which we are necessarily allotted to set forth the psculiar merits claimed by the proprietors of the several machines before the public. The sewing machine is certainly a great disideratum—an article which no family should be without. Its invention has worked wonders in the world—its improvements are many and great. The benefit which women derive from the sewing machine is untold. The "rhymist" has said truly:

Now make your mother, wife or sis-er proud and happy by the present of a sewing machine at the coming heli-lays. You can get your choice of eli-cant machines, the best made, by a sist to either of the following named Wm. Summer & Co., 99 Main or G. L. Abdill, 164 Market

By all means, wear good hats or cips, and then you can carry your head high and look out from under a good brim into honest people's eyes. Go at once to one of the following named places and supply yourself with a good head rig: Harper & Bro, or S. Praiher.

CANDIES AND CONFECTIONAMIES.
Old folks as well as young some times have a sweet tooth, which requires attention, but we believe it is particularly the forte of the juveniles to long after the good things of the candy shops and confectionaries. It is not always that one wishing to make purchases of these articles knows just where to get the nicost, best and cheapest goods. To all such we say, by all means patronize the following named firms: Speidel & Inderedden, or Schultz & Trischell.

Wo know of the difficulty, inconvenience and unpleasantness that arises from a bad clear or bad article of chewing tobacco. While the many numerious bad brands are in the market, it frequently requires a man of great ox sperience to select a good article of the bacco. To those who from inexporting to a word to say, which is to tell you where you may go to get good tobacco and cigars, and run no risk of imposition. The firms we refer to are those of Rhodes & Singleton, er Speidel & Inderedden, Patronize these and you will get good articles on fair terms.

The firms of our city who compete to supply the public with articles of this class are fully prepared to meet any demands that may be made on them. A nice sett of China and glass ware, of any description desired—or a lamp, of fine make and finish—will constitute a nice present for the mother, sister or married hady friend who may be a house-keeper. Call or J. I. Hobbs, Son & Co., Winship, Woods & Co., or J. W. McNeil & Co., and purchase a fine sett of ware for a present—we nother, sister or married hady friend who may be a house-keeper. Call or J. of any few forms of the first stand high.

Where the purse is able to procure that which the heart desires, we say to our readers, one and all, buy good articles. To get them of a good firm consult our newspaper, and see who do not advertises. Those who do not advertise are not apt to receive what they do of deserve—patronage.
